I began taking the Beginning Japanese Class in 2011 through the University of Hawaii Outreach college. I fell in love with Japan the first time we went and was determined to learn the language. I can now have simple conversations with Japanese...getting directions, telling the chef his food is delicious, etc. And I can even read some signs. It makes traveling to Japan even more interesting. Also, the opportunity to interact with Japanese nationals who serve as volunteer tutors in our class is immeasurable. The sensei are passionate about helping us learn and it is not only about the language but the culture. And we are so fortunate to have teachers who are native speakers but who can also explain idiosyncrasies of Japanese grammar in English. Our fellow classmates are also a diverse group in background and ages. It is a great place to begin for both the young and old!
